SOUND FAMILIAR?

Sourcing wall art shouldn't hurt.

01

The sample was perfect. The batch wasn't.

Colour, print and finish drift between what you approved and what arrives.

02

It arrived with broken corners.

Damaged frames and canvases. Returns pile up. Reviews suffer.

03

A printer, a framer, a packer. A margin on each.

Several vendors, several delays, and nobody owns the result.

04

Their sizes. Not yours.

Fixed size lists. Your range ends where your supplier's ends.

05

Reorders that don't match order one.

The second batch looks like a different product.

06

Minimums too high to test the market.

A big first order before you know what sells.

Every one of them, fixed.
